OOTO

A TABLE FOR MAKING EXTRAORDINARY DECISIONS

The name OOTO, an abbreviation of Out of the Ordinary, owes the table to its form and type of wood.

OOTO is a counterpart of the classic table. The straight beams are invisibly connected to each other to create a table top with head ends of irregularly placed beams. This allows you to just sit at the long sides of the table.

The clear, pale wood of the tulip tree breaks the straight lines of the table with subtle, organic lines of yellow, green and sometimes almost purple veins.

The length, width and height of OOTO is variable and can be custom made on request. The table can be disassembled for transport.
